

'My daughter had counselling through Allyance and it was such a supportive experience for her just when she needed it. It gave her the confidence to develop on without that support long term. Karen was caring and calm, helping her to work through a difficult time. '

'It helped me get out my feelings and made me feel safe because I had someone to talk to. '